TERMS OF THE DAILY DEMOCRAT TO THE COUNTRY.

One of the greatest errors committed by the secessionists was acting upon the idea that the interests of the two sections of the Unlon were antagonistic-that it was impossible for them to dwell together in peace. In the madness of the hour, they accepted the challenge thrown down to them hy Mr. Lincoln, that a house divided against itself cannot stand; the statement having direct reference to the Union of free and slave States. Allured by the plantom of a Southern Empire, exesperated by the threat of an irrepressible conflict, in an hour ruinous to them and to us they reduced to practice the theory of hostility of interests, and plunged into a still more 500 bus, Hungarian Grass Seed; than the Abolitionists only as far as the act dreadful conflict of arms. They were guiltier exceeds the conception. Charmed by the syren tongues of eloquent and popular leaders, irritated and alarmed by the announcement of a theory of antagonism, which threatened all they held dear, they did not pause where their guilty counterpart in the North did, at the declaration of a mischlevous, treasonable theory, but boldly met them halfway with arms in their hands. How casy it was at such a time, when every bad passion was at such a time, when every bad passion was rife, to deceive them. When the pure and impure alike gave way to the hot ambition of a few, feeding them with golden, glorious promises, how easy it was to believe that those with whom they had prospered so long had interests different and hostile to theirs.

Tebels that which has given them strength and power, you destroy the rebellion, and your artillery is effectual. [Applause in the galleries and on the floor, and seme hisses.]

Now, sir, I would not touch, here or elsewhere, the rights, the interests, the privileges, or anything else belonging to a Union man, or to any man who has stood for his country in a rehellious. State or in a loval State, but when interests different and hostile to theirs.

Disguise it as we may, rebellion never took a more alluring shape to the young, the thoughtless and the ambitious than that which swept the Southern States into revolutiou. Resentment burned in them at the declarations of those new coming into power; and the promise of wealth and honor, greater than Cortez won over the fallen temples of Mexico, floated the semblance of a beautiful reality before their eyes. If the error was great-and no greater one ever was made—the temptation was almost irresistible. A few of the leaders clung desperately to the alters of the Constiution, but the waves of rehellion rolled over them and their cries were drowned in the exultant shout of a new republic and Southern ndependence. Although they still butile vigorously, desperately, to maintain the rash assumption they have made; yes, even in the shock of hattles, at a time when the aroused feelings would give us least reason to expect it, we find wiser sentiments prevailing, or at least advocated. They have found out the trnth which they inevitably were to find ont-that the interests of the American people are identical. If they me.

It will be seen that the Ecquirer still clings to the idea of two republics, but it is on the right path to a Union when it asserts the unity of interests of the people North and South. It is the tie, the only tie, which can bind us together in one great confederated republic. It is as one great nation that we can demand the enforcement of the Mouroe doetrine. It is as one people we can resist and resent the "kindness" which Napoleon has extended to Mexico. It is as one nation we can mock at the mercenary projec's of England and the ambition of Napoleon.
We are glad to see another spirit evinced in this article—a love for the republic they have sought to leave in preference to foreign nations, It is this spirit of Americanism surviving battle, ruin, desolation and destruction which gives the surest promise of a reunion.

It is popular and profitable now to deery these men, who, under such circumstances, Louisville and Nashville bave retained such an undying love; for American institutions. Words of hatred, reviling and contempt, sing in the ears of power a song sweeter than that of the nightingale to his mate; hut when we think of what they have been; their glorious past; the splendor of their statesmanship; the record of ON AND AFTER SUNDAY. They have rejected the kindness and the aid of those who loved them; but now that their honse is left desolate, the nation should lament as over the chosen city, crying, "Ob, Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the prophets and stonest them that are sent unto thee; how often would i have gathered thy children together even as a hen doth gather her brood under her wings, but ye

No such spirit, we fear, actuates those in power. They will rec ive with indiff :rence a declaration showing a preference for our country, important as it is to us. A PASSAGE AT ARMS IN THE U. S. HOUSE OF REP-RESENTATIVES.

Kentucky Congressmen Defining their Positions-Smith, Mallory, Wadsworth and others.

We furnish the following debate, which occurred in Congress on the 25th inst., between several of the Kentucky members-defining their positions. It will be read with interest by our Kentucky readers :

by our Kentneky readers:

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Chairman, I did not intend to say anything upon this subject; hut having witnessed for the last two years or more the operations of the armies of the country, and, to some extent, the effect of ordnance and small-arms upon the enemy, I feel it to be my duty npon this occasion to say, that while there is power in these, and while the Government must through these execute its laws. ernment must through these execute Its laws and vindicate its integrity, there remains behind this rebellion that which gives it strength and power, which must be overthrown and destroyed on the other side while our armies and our ordrance move it from and our ordnance move in front.

It is true that General Lee is within a short distance of this city; it is true that Longstreet is fortifying himself in Eastern Tennessee; it is true that Beauregard is at Charles-ton; it is true that other rebel forces are in ton; it is true that other rebel forces are in various quarters of this country, bidding defiance to the Government of the United States and its soldiery; but their forces in arms sgainst the Government are maintained and fed by, and their very life-blood is drawn from, African slavery in the South, and whenever you—and I say it here as a Kentuckian sunds a Sonthern man, always having been identified with the institution of slavery, and believing that as a citizen of Kentucky I had a right to it, and so believing still—that whenever you sap the foundation of this accursed rebellion and tear from under the rebels that which has given them strength and power, you destroy the rebellion, and rebellions State or in a loyal State; but when a man has evinced his hatred to this Government, when he has voluntarily taken up arms against this Government, and when he has prought his artillery to play upon its Consti-ntion and its principles and its Jiherties, he and demand of me, as a legislator for the people of this country, no privileres in horses, cattle, lands, or negroes. We vie take them, when we come to them, by any means we can and by all means.

The bulwark which prevented the American people, by its army, from moving down to the South and exercising jurisdiction there—that hulwork, supported by four million slaves—must be removed; and the evidence that we have a right to remove it is that we have a right to remove it is that we have a right to crush the rebellion. It was the 'a by of the Government to do it. The Government would have failed in its duty to itself and to all future generations if it did not, in its power and majesty, sweep away that bulwark of slavery. It thought it my duty, under the circumstances in which I am placed, comlang from the country I come from, representing the loyal people who feel as I do, and whose opinions have been expressed time and again to me as mine to them, to make this The bulwark which prevented the American again to me as mine to them, to make this

"Resolved, That this General Assembly declares that the power which has recently been assumed by the President of the United States, whereby, under the guise of milliary necessity, he has proclaimed and extended martial law over States where war did not exist, and has suspended the writ of habeas corpus, is unwarranted by the Constitution, and its tendency is to subordinate civil to milliary authority, and to subvert constitutional and free government.

Mr. MALLORY. Now, Mr. Chairman, I can tell this llouse, after these resolutions have Mr. MALLORY Will my colleagne tell been read, what that convention did mean. I me where, when and how the Union Democ-

I ask him whether he did not also write a letter to Mr. Menzics in favor of his receivering?

spects. The Union Democratic party in those resolutions distinctly denounced the President's proclamation of curancipation, which my colleague considers now as a necessary war measure. They denounced it as unconstitutional, null and void. That was done by those who nominated and elected my colleague. I sak him whether in his speeches he ever dared to avow his approval of the eman cipation polley of the President? I want a direct answer.

Mr. SMITH. I will answer my colleague distinctly, that I said in my cauxass in Kentucky, that in no act of the President, in re-tucky, that in no act of the President, in no act of the Congress of the United States, in no act or word or deed that could be found on paper, had the institutions of Kentucky been touched, and I defy mortal men to show it. I defy my colleague here to show it. Mr. MALLORY. Answer my question.

Mr. SMITH. I told the people of Kentucky that I would oppose the operation of that proclamation to the Union men of the South, but that so far as rehels in arms were concerned I was not only for taking their negroes, but that I was for taking their infernal lives and crushing them to atoms.

Mr. MALLORY. I have not yet obtsined an answer to my question. I ask my colleague whether he ever dared in his district during his canvass to announce that the proc-

nring his canvass to announce that the proc

The question was never made in my district whether it was constitu-tional or unconstitutional. [Laughter on the Democratic side of the House.] I ask my sellegge to allow me to say that I am in crcolleage to allow me to say that I am in ex-ceedingly good humor, and I trust my col league, so far as we are personally concerned will allow this little dehate to go on pleasant

Mr. MALLORY. Oh, yes.

Mr. SMITH. I sak my colleague, in connection with this discussion, if he is la favor conspiracy against the Government of the United States all the sights and privileges he united States all the rights and privileges he would give to Union men; and if he would make a reudition of their slaves when they lave transgressed the laws of their conntr

I would reduce and destroy their armies; I would destroy all resistance to the laws and Constitution of the United States; and then I hope I would have the magnanimity to spare private property and let the people who have been reduced to submission return to their allegiance and onsubmission return to their allegiance and enjoy their own property and live under their own vine and fig tree. Mr. SIEVENS. As these gentlemen seem to be hunting no documents for this discussios, I think they need a little more time, and with their permission I will move that the committee rise.

Mr. MALLORY. I must decline to yield.

Mr. WADSWORTH I read some extracts from a speech made by General Green Clay Smith July 28, 1863, to a meeting in Harrison country. Key need to be the decline to problems. county, Kentneky, as I find them published in the Cincinnati Commercial of July 29, 1863 namely: "He [Mr. Menzies] charges that I do not stand npon the Louisville platform, and that the conven-tion oid not indorse it. I contend it has indorsed It, and that I am the felend of the Union party of e State, Its true representative, and he it

"I never entertained a moment's thought antag-mistic to the action of the Lonisville Convention; in the contrary, I stand upon the platform of the Juston Democratic party of the State, as contained in the resolutions of the Lonisville Convention." And again:

And again:

"I am opposed to the radical measures of the Administration, and if elected to Congress will pursue a course consistent with these avowels. In the selection of a Speaker for the Honse I will vote for a war Democrat; and such measures as neither my vote nor influence as a member of Congress can chane, I hope to the measure of my ability to effectually defeat by pressing the war to a speedy close, in destroying the armies of our enemies and in the wake of our victorious arms, and see the Constitution and law and order restored in every state of the Union, under which the rights of persons and property will be secured and protected."

Mr. MALLORY. I do not know that I have much to add to that speech [laughter] about my colleague's second, or about the onvention which rominated him or the people who elected him.

I will conclude my remarks by saying that my solemn conviction is that Kentucky repudiates the sentiments uttered by the gentleman a few moments ago as completely as she did at the time when he indorsed such con-demnation. He has changed; Kentucky has not. He is entitled to make that change, and I do not quarret with him for having made it.

I do not quarret with him for having made it. He has a right to do it. Even after he had pledged himself to his constituents to pursue a particular course he has a right to pursue a different course. I do not quarrel with him; it is a matter with himself alone.

A MEMBER. He has no such right.

Mr. MALLORY. I mean to say he has a political right as a member of Congress, and there is no authority to restrain him. We are not talking about a moral right in this House. I am talking about his power under House, I am talking about his power under the rules of the House and the Constitution and laws of the United States after he has pledged himself to his constituents to pursue a particular line of policy to come here and pursue exactly the reverse. I do not quarrel with him; he can settle that with his constituread the Kentucky platform and the gentle-man's speech. The gentleman himself is the collegue I called to my aid.

Mr. SMITH. At any rate, I have had them all three at a time on my shoulders during this little debate. But allow me to ask my colleagues here who did not vote with me in the election of Speaker, since they quote my larguage when I said that I would vote for a war Democrat for Speaker, if the Union party of the State of Kentucky, known as the war Democratic varty, did not understand from Democratic party, did not understand from al of their representatives who have been elected here that they would vote when they got here for a war Democrat for Speaker? was understood. Now, my colleague Mr. MALLORY | never was a Democrat—never, Lu: an old-line Whig.

Mr. MALLORY. He was elected as a Union

Mr. SMITH. I am speaking of what he was up to the time of this last election. He was always a Whig.

Mr. MAM.ORY Will my colleague tell tell this House and the country that the predominant party in Kentacky, whose sentiments you have heard expressed in these resointions, was the party that nominated and elected my colleague, [Mr. Smith.]

Mr. SMITH. I will ask my colleague one question, if he will allow me.
Mr. MALLORY. Certainly.
Mr. SMITH. I ask my colleague whether I in the district now known as the sixth district of Kentucky ever imposed upon their racy of Kentucky ever imposed to to congress to the fact of clear even even even even even ev yourself in that speech to vote for a war Jem-ocrat for Speaker. I have not said one word about it; I had forgotten it, overlooked it. The gentleman has lugged it in himself now, said Mr. Vallandigham. [Laughter]. He electioneered in the State of Ohio tor Mr. Vallandigham, who was an anti-war man, who was against voting men or money to put down the rebellion. I saw that he was presented by a majority of the Democratic party here so far as I could hear, and my constituents had directed me not to vote for such a man. I found that there were other men suggested and monitated in this House by that same Democratic party who were, in my judgment, identified with blm. I found also that members from New York who are opposed to voting men or money for the suppression of this rebelliou were in that cancus, and therefore, as a Damocrat, I could find no war Democrat to vote for, according to the old acceptation of the term. [Laughter, and cries of "Gooe!"] Vallandigham, who was an anti-war man, who

Mr. MALLORY. My colleague will allow me to ask him whether he did not go into the Republican caucus that nominated the Speak Mr. SMITH. I say to my colleague distinct-ly that I never saw in the papers in the city of Washington or anywhere else that a Republi-lan cances was to be called.

MALLORY. Did not the gentleman go nto it?

Mr. SMITH. No. sir; I went into a Unlor, in unconditional Union causeus. [Shonts of 'Good!" "Good!" from the Republican side.]

Mr. MALLORY. Did the gentleman go nto the caucus which nominated the present listinguished Speaker of this House?

Mr. SMITH. You sir Lid.

Mr. SMITH. Yes. sir, I did. Mr. MALLORY I will ask the gentleman mother question, and then I am done. Did be ever go into the other cancus to find out whether there were war Democrats there are Mr. SMITII. No, sir; because I smelt the stmosphere and discovered his character be-fore I got in. [Lughter and cries of

I find to-day in the distinguished gentleman who occupies the Speaker's chair a Democratecording to the true and patriotic acceptation of that word, and he is a man that I amproud to stand by because he is for the Government and the Constitution and the Union—a man who has never stood up for a man or a party opposed to this war or to this Government. to vote for Scherkler Colfrax, or some other Republican, for Speaker?

Mr. SMITH. I answer the question by saying that if I wrote such a letter to any-hody at any time I do not recollect at this time ever having written such a letter.

Mr. MALLORY. Ah! Mr. Reporter, write down for him as his answer, non mi ricordo.

Mr. SMITH. I will now ask my colleague a question: whether the people of Kentneky have not, by their votes and by their action, repudiated the Vallendigham anti-war, anti-money, and anti-men party of the North?

Mr. MALLORY. The people of Kentucky, as I said, have pledged themselves to sustain the war by furnishing men and money.

Mr SMITII. Then I ask my colleagne this urther question: what right he had to be in

I do not know anything about it because he has said nothing. Therefore I beg he will not suppose I had any allusion in the world to him.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Chalrman, my colleague [Mr. CLAY] are very giad to hear the gentleman's candid evolution upon that point Union Democracy of Kentucky, which has been read here to day by my colleague [Mr. Wadswouthil], and to which he is pledged, too.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Chairman, my colleague has been in Cogress four or six years, and understands how to give an evasive answer better than I do. So far as I am concerned this matter is closed. The people of Kentucky, my colleague's remonstrance to the contrary notwithslending, are to-day, as they were in the beginning of the war, in favor of crushing the recellion by every means, whatever it may be. I speak now of the Union party of Kentucky, for we have a Democratic my state, and I replied emphatically that I event in the beginning of the wear, in layor of cereist in ay be. I speak now of the Union party of Kentheky, for we have a Democratic barry there which would not be trusted by Union men further than one could throw a bull by the tail. [Laughter] I opposed that Democratic party. It was the distinct under-Democratic party. It was the distinct under-standing of the Union men of Kentucky, and is to-day, that whatever stands in the way of the three on his shoulders. I must deny the soft impeachment. I was not present when my colleague [Mr. Smith] got np here to unsay all he had said in Kentucky, and to take back all the pledges he had given to support the platform of the Union Democratic party of our State. Had I been present when he back all the pledges he had given to support the platform of the Union Democratic party of our State. Had I been present when he rese to make his avowals—I came in too late to understand their drift—I should have felt, firmet, that just indignation at his betrayal of the Union party of Kentucky as not to have walted for my colleague [Mr. Mallott], burdened with the weight of illness, to respond and to defend the State from the position asand to defend the State from the position assigned to her. Let the gentleman [Mr. Smith] speak for his own constituents. Let him speak for those who practiced a great fraud upon the Union Democratic party of Kentucky in his nomination; but let him not speak for the people of Kentucky.

I do not propose to examine the value of his present opinions. All that I now complain of is that he was not understood when the convention nominated him, and when the party voted for him. He should have declared then what he has avowed to day, in order that party voted for him. He should have declared then what he has avowed to day, in order that the Union party in Kentucky might have put in the field a candidate to oppose the positions which he now assumes. If he had, after that, heen elected, I should not have reproached heen elected, I should not have reproached him with any speech he might have made. But now I do straign him, here on this floor, as being unfaithful to the pleages which he made to his party, and as one who has betrayed the pleages that he gave to the electors of Harrison county, the promises that he would oppose the radical measures of the National Administration, and particularly its unconstitutional emancipation policy. I find him here now indorsing that policy; I find him indorsing the radical measures of the Administration, and going even a bow-shot beyond anything the Administration has yet attempted. I find him here, sir, instead of redeeming that pledge that he would vote for a war Democrat pledge that he would vote for a war Democrat in the election of a Speaker, voting for an avowed supporter of the radical policy of the Administration, and a member of the Republlcan party. I flad him voting with those men ou many radical propositions which the Legis-lature of Keuincky and the State Convention hail denounced as unconstitutional. I find

Mr. GNABOU. I can be gentleman to order for calling the Speaker a revolutionist.

Mr. WADSWORTH. I take it back, I did not mean it in any offcusive sense. But if this is not a revolution I do not know what the I tangetter! No one has more respect for is. [Langhter]. No one has more respect for the speaker personally than myself. But let me return to the point that I make against my colleague. The doctrines that he now avows may be right or wrong; I do not discuss that; but he did not give the people of Kentucky or the Union Democracy in his district an opportunity to send a man here of different principles. They thought that my colleague stood with ns upon the platform of the Union Democratic convention which had been held at Louisville. Ile was nominated by us and he was our candidate. Our adherents sustained him against Mr. Menzies, my colleagne of the last Congress. He was sustained simply because he was the nominee of the Union Democratic party. Had Mr. Menzies reon one hand as the crebellion did on the other of the section of t accept the point made by my colleague [Mr. Wadsworth], and in 1864 let us go before our people for their judgment. He has interailed to things which it is necessary for me to answer. The Lonisville Journal, the leading paper of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and claiming to be the representative of the people there, opposed me, and denounced me "from pillar to post." My district is composed of ten countles, and has one hundred and twenty thousand inhabitants. Two or three handhills to every man, woman and child of that district were distributed Two or three handhills to every man, woman and child of that district were distributed from the office of the Louisville Journal against me, and in favor of Mr. Menzies, hecause they said that he was the Union conservative Democrat of that district, while I was a radical. Not a paper in my State advocated my election. I went before the people on principle, nominated by a convention that the Lonisville Journal denounced as radical, Republican, and everything abominable in the sight of the people of Kentucky. With that issue I went before the people—for unconditional Union—and I ode over all onposition. I was returned by rode over all opposition. I was returned by a majority of 5,040. I do not know now a man who was running for Congress who was man who was running for Congress who was in favor of my election. I know the infinence that the State government brought to bear against me. It was rothing hit principle, a sublime love of country—principle and devoted patriotism and everlasting philanthropy that made me thely Representative over the late Representative from that district who did not vete for the composition.

trict, who did not vote for the appropriation bills to carry on the war.

Let the issue be made between us before Let the issue be made between us before the people. The gentleman has thrown down the gauatlet. The war is waged. Let it go to the people of Kentneky to be decided in 1861. Let them decide in 1865 whether they will indorse us as members of Congress. I speak for my people. I have seen and communicated with them. I say to my colleagues that I have in my peoples in letters from the that I have in my possession letters from the best and truest men of Kentucky—men who own more negroes than all of us put together own more negroes than all of us put together—who indorse me for voting for the present Speaker [Mr. Colfax], in voting, as my collegue said, for an "Abolitionist for Speaker" I have not yet received a single letter reproving me for voting as I did. They also indorse my resolution, and they indorse my position generally. I believe that they will indorse me hereafter.

Mr. MALLORY. Who are those extensive slaveholders?

Mr. SMITH. It my colleague will call at my room I will tell him. These are private letters, and I do not know that I am at liber y to give their names in the Honse of Representation.

Mr. MALLORY. If they are private letters

Mr. MALLORY. If they are private letters the gentleman ought not to have alloded to them in the committee.

Mr. SMITH. I only alloded to them incidentally to show that I had been indorsed in my course, and as I know by the best of men. I know my position is right and just, and knowing it will defend it here, believing as I do my people will approbate my course.

Mr. CLAY. Mr. Chairman, I hope I will he Mr. CLAY. Mr. Chairman, I hope I will he pardoned for saying one word before this discussion is permitted to close. It would seem, from what has been said by my colleague [Mr. Mallour], that all the members from Kentucky who voted for the present Speaker [Mr. Colfax], were recreant to their State and their duty. I wish to understand these gartlemen, and whether they intend to include in their remarks every gentleman upon this floor from Kentucky who had the independence to vote for Mr. Colfax for Speaker? I ask the question for the reason that I have been denounced by the Louisville Journal and other papers in Kentneky with violating my pledges upon that subject. Standing here and listening to this decate, and to the lusing and listening to this decate, and to the lusing the standing to the village. A portion of our other papers in Kentneky with viciating my pledges upon that subject. Standing here and listening to this decate, and to the leginuations thrown out by those gentlemen, I desire to know whether I am included in their remarks, and am charged by them with violating my pledges? It I am I want them to say so. say so.

Mr. MALLORY. I have not, in the most remote way, directly or indirectly, alluded to the gentleman. In replying to my colleague [Mr. SMITH], I replied to his sentlments and I repudiated them, and I read from his speech in which he pledged himself to vote for a war In which he pledged himself to vote for a war Democrat for Speaker; and then I showed that another question—what his name is doing on that national committee?

In which he pledged himself to vote for a war Democrat for Speaker; and then I showed that he voted for Mr. Colfax. I do not know what the views of my colleague [Mr. Clay] are: whether he approves the proclamation the Army of the Republic must be removed, and that the Government must triumph.

Mr. WADSWORTH. Mr. Chairman, my colleague [Mr. SMITH] has made the remark that he had on this occasion two or three of his colleagues on his shoulders. I understand that remark to embrace me as one of the three on his shoulders. I must deny the fact that was the shoulders. I must deny the fact that was the shoulders. I must deny the fact that was the shoulders. I must deny the fact that was the shoulders and that the said accomplete or the shoulders. I have been followed up here to some extent.

organization of the House would be the result of his not doing so; but that in that event, and that event only, he would do so?

Mr. CLAY. I made no such pledge whatever More than that, I stated I would not make any pledge. I stated it everywhere; and I felt at liberty here to canvass every claim and to vote for the best candidate, as I thought the interest of the country required. I have no concealment to make in regard to my views. I have never attached myself to one side or the other. I am independent; I mean to vote for measures as they come u mean to vote for measures as they come up according as it seems to me best and for the interest of my country, disregarding all party ties and party feelings, for I cannot say that I cordially agree with either side of the House. I must say, so far as the Democratic party is concerned, my prejudices are rather against them. I had always been against the Democratic and the leading Democratic of my Stock.

Such being the case, my prejudices were rather against them; but I did not know what they would be elsewhere, and I reserved my they would be elsewhere, and I reserved my right to determine the matter when I reached Mr. WADSWORTH. In what I said there was no allusion to the gentleman, because I understood him to stand upon the State platform, and to still stand upon it. I would inquire of the gentleman if I am not correct in that understanding.

Mr. CLAY. I voted for the platform in the Legislature and in the convention, and intend to be governed in my judgment by the State platform as laid down as far as it is applicable o the times. I have made no repudiation of to the times. I have made no repudiation of it, and I have given no vote which will not justify me in standing upon it. But these gentlemen seemed to arraign my colleagues as violating their pledges, because they voted for the present Speaker. The papers in my State take that ground, and these gentlemen seemed to follow in the same direction, and seemed to follow in the same direction, and wanted to know whether they meant me or not. I take the opportunity to explain myself now that I may not be misunderstood upon this subject. I do not intend to create any ill-feeling between my colleagues and myself. I desire to have the friendliest relations with all of them. Yet, gentlemen, I intend to act here for myself, not to be governed by anybody, to exercise my best judgment on all these questions, and to go home and face my constituents like an honest man, and tell them that I have done my dry according to constituents like an honest man, and tell then that I have done my duty according to the dictates of my own jndgment.

I have made these remarks because this subject sprung np incidentally here. I should not have alluded to what has been said in the newspapers if it had not been for the course of my collectives this evening. I intended to newspapers if it had not been for the course of my colleagues this evening. I intended to have passed it by, but as the question has come up here, I wished the House and the country to know my position, that there may ed to be unfounded, of a large rebel force approaching Petersburg, Hardy country.

MEETING TO-NIGHT.

There is good reason to be with promptness and liberality, that the removal of the Capital can be scenred. Those in favor of it should attend, and those op posed, if any such there be, should attend and give their influence in favor of such measures as they may think best. The Mayor has called the meeting at the request of the Conneil, and they no doubt deem the call necessary to the promotion of the interests of the city.

Many years ago this city went to a vast expense to prepare for the removal of the Capital hither, and now there is a fair prospect that the measure may be consummated to the advantage of the city and the benefit and pafety of the State.

Let there be a general turn out. Onr abiest speakers and wiscst counsellors will no doubt be prepared for the occasions.

Onr young friends Messre. Griffith & Board seem to have made a very handsome beginning in the grocery and produce business on Main street, near Third. We commend them to our friends as worthy of patby almost everybody.

The city was filled with rumors yesterday of a rebel invesion of the State, and numerous were the stories set affoat, all of which were exaggerated and highly colored to suit the views of those who started the storles One report was that Glasgow had been captured robbed of a shot-gun. At that time two men, and that the town had been sacked by a large Sergeant David Collins and a private by the band of guerrillas. We made diligent inquiry name of Allen Montague, were arrested on in regard to the ramors and learn the following facts:

GUERRILLAS IN KENTUCKY.

Exciting Rumors-Scottsville Robbed

On Monday morning, as Captain Miles, of the Home Guard, with two of his sons, was on his way to Giasgow, Kentucky, he was attacked by a body of armed guerrillas, some fifteen or twenty in number, who fired upon them, killing one of the boys, and since that time the other boy has not been heard from The old man came into the town very much excited, stating that the rebels in strong force were advancing upon the town, which created considerable excitement. Some fifteen or twenty armed men robbed a Mr Shaw of fifteen dollars, all the money he had, and took all his clothing, within a mile of the town, which were all that made their appearance there. There is stationed at Glasgow the Thirty-seventh Kentucky, under command of Col. C. S. Hanson, one of our most galiant officers. We conversed last night with persons just from Glasgow, who give us the above facts, and who state that it was genalso found at the house of Dr. Gorden, a lot crally believed there that a force some two of goods, which were left there by one of the or three hundred strong was moving in the

From the mail agent on the Nashville rai'road, we learn that on Wednesday night thirty-six guerillas crossed the road at Rocky Hill, a station nine!y-five miles below this city, moving in the direction of Scottsville, at which place it was reported that they had had a fight, but with what result our informan did not know. We learn that on yesterday several parties who are merchants in Scot's ville, and who are in this city purchasing goods, received private dispatches stating that the town had been entered by a band of guerrillas and robbed, and on the strength of this information the parties who had bought goods went to the merehants from whom they had made purchases, asking to have the goods taken back. We are informed that there are numbers of guerrillas in Barren, Monroe and Cumberland counties, who are committing all sorts of depredations upon the citizens. On Wednesday they stole seven horses from Mr. John Birrett, who resides near Glasgow. It is the opinion of some that these guerrillas intend to coucentrate their forces and make a raid upon, the Louisville and Nashville railroad, with the view of stopping communication between

AN OLD NEWSPAPER -A friend has shown us a copy of "The New England Weekly Journal," No. LV., published in Boston. Monday, April 8, 1728, nearly one hundred and thirty-six years ago. It is thirteen inches enpied with a story about the invention of the stocking loom. The greater part of the know, merely from curiosity, to which of Mr. Sumner's "Puritan Ancestors" these slaves belonged. The "Likely Negro Girl" was evidently imported from Africa, as the description shows. Some "Puritan Ancestor" had probably stolen her from her parents for the ranks, having lately joined the regiment. On purpose of instilling into her some of the principles of freedom which formed the car-

Amusements. Wood's THEATER.-The benefit of Mr. Albaugh last night was a perfect ovation. At the concinsion of "Damon and Pythias" loud cails were made for Mr. A., who appeared and returned tbanka in a neat and appropriate address. This was followed by the presentation of a splendid diamond ring, tendered as a mark of approbation and esteem by a select few of Mr. Albaugh's frlends. Maj. Farris made the presentation speech, which was responded to by Mr. A. in a few feeilng remarks. To-night the farewell benefit and last anpearance of Mr. Wilkes Booth, when Macbeth will be the feature.

BEAUTY IS PUBLIC PROPERTY. - The following very sensible advice is from the Autocrat of the Breakfast Table :

There are some very pretty, but unhappily, very ill-bred women, who don't understand the law of the road, with regard to handsome faces. Nature and enstom would, no doubt, agree in enceding to all maies the right of at least two distinct looks 2t a very cornely female countenance, without any interction of the rules of counters or the some rection of the rnles of conrtesy or the sentiment of respect. The first look is necessary to define the person of the individual one meets, so as to avoid it in passing. Any unusual The sup-cient apology for a second—not a prolonged, impertinent stare, but an appreciating homage of the eyes, such as a stranger may inof-fereively yield to a passing image. It is as-tonishing how morbidly sensitive some vnl-gar beauties are to the slightest demonstration OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT, FRIDAY EVENUNG, January 29th, 1884.

The Money market continues easy, most of our banks taking nearly all the good business paper of their customers running not over 90 days at 6 per cent., and all time bills on the East, inside of 4 months, at about 9 per cect, off. There is, however, moderate demand.

Gold is fluctuating.
